Sealite's Exhibiting Innovative Aids to Navigation at AAPA Latino 2019 Conference

Tilton, New Hampshire, USA – October 31, 2019 – The global leader in technologically advanced Aids to Navigation (AtoNs), will be exhibiting at the XXVIII Latin American Congress of Ports, November 19 - 21, 2019 in Miami.

The three-day event will host 400+ port leaders and international experts for technical sessions relating to major international port projects.

Sealite's innovative marine lanterns on display will include those designed specifically for large port and harbor applications:

- Sealite's new SL-C510 5-9NM Self Contained Solar LED Lantern with integrated AIS and GPS
- PEL-10 Long Range LED Port Entry Light
- SL-75 3-5NM Bluetooth® ready Solar Marine Lantern

Jason Larrere, Sealite America's Sales Manager, and Bassim Oshiba, Strategic Account Manager, will also be demonstrating the new Star2M Marine Asset Management platform. Star2M is geared towards the needs of navigation aid managers responsible for monitoring, operating and maintaining their AtoN assets.

Larrere states, "The Latin American market is an important one for Sealite and we look forward to building relationships throughout the region through AAPA."

A personal demonstration can be scheduled at booth #47 with Luis Velasquez, Sealite's LATAM Business Development Manager or call +1 (603) 737-1322.

For more information about the event, visit XXVIII Latin American Congress of Ports 2019. The event is organized by the American Association of Port Authorities (AAPA).
